ROGGE FIRED FOR BARING NAZI SCHEMES

Attorney General Charges His Assistant Violated Department Rules.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Attorney General Tom Clark accused O. John Rogge today of disclosing confidential information in a public address and dismissed him from the post of assistant to the attorney general.

In a crisp letter to Rogge, Clark declared "you wilfully violated" regulations by quoting from a department report in a speech detailing what Rogge said were Nazi schemes to defeat President Roosevelt in 1936, 1940 and 1944.

Clark said the information came from Rogge's own report on the wartime sedition cases against 30 Americans, which have been in abeyance since a mistrial in 1944.

The ousted official could not be reached for comment.

Rogge in a speech Tuesday night at Swarthmore college, said he had learned from captured Nazi documents and interviews with German officials that, among other things, before the 1940 election "the Nazis had a fantastic scheme to get John L. Lewis, the labor leader, to come out against the election of President Roosevelt.

* * *

Acts in Wee Hours.

"This scheme involved Hermann Goering, a Nazi agent by the name of Joachim Hertslet, and William R. Davis, a promoter in the oil business." Davis, whose German and Mexican oil connections once were investigated by congress, died in 1941.

In his dismissal letter to Rogge, made public at the unusual hour of 12:30 a. m., Clark said: "It has come to my attention that you have made certain statements in a public address that could only come from your report filed with me" on the sedition cases.

"It therefore appears that you wilfully violated the long-standing rules and regulations of the department of justice and it becomes necessary for me to sever your connection with the department."

The dismissal was made effective at the close of business yesterday.

Rogge said in his Swarthmore speech:

"In our 1936, 1940 and 1944 presidential elections," Rogge said, "the Nazis always preferred the one who opposed President Roosevelt.

"They preferred in turn Landon, Willkie and Dewey. They had a strong preference for Dewey. They did not particularly like Willkie, but they felt that any president would be better for their purposes than President Roosevelt."

John L. Lewis, chief of the AFL United Mine Workers, declined to comment on Rogge's remarks about the asserted 1940 "scheme."

Sheriff Seeks Honey Thief Who Cut Tree

A honey thief who cut down a towering oak tree on the farm of E. M. Weiss, Butler, R. D. 1, today was sought by Richland county sheriff's officers.

Weiss told officers that the oak tree had apparently been cut down when a bee-tree, described as an old chestnut of little value, fell against it, temporarily thwarting the thief from robbing the bees.

Weiss told the sheriff's officers he didn't care so much about losing the old chestnut tree, the honey, and the colony of bees, but he was "mad as a hornet" when he found the oak tree, one of the few remaining on his farm, had been cut.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Veterans enrolled under the GI Bill of Rights in educational institutions or on-the-job training programs must report their earnings for the last three months to the Veterans Administration before Nov. 5.

The Columbus branch office of the VA said today that subsistence checks will be withheld until the reports are made.

Amvets Ask Speedier Housing Action

New Price Hike Due For Bread

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Housewives were warned today to brace themselves for a new hike in the family food budget—this time in the cost of bread and rolls.

The agriculture department opened the door to bread price increases when it discarded yesterday its emergency order requiring bakers to reduce the size of bread loaves and rolls by 10 per cent.

Since there are no price controls on bakery products, bakers who increase the size of their loaves may raise prices at their discretion.

OPA officials did not anticipate a substantial price boost. They expected many bakers to continue selling at present prices, regardless of whether they increase the size of the loaf.

* * *

Other Orders Voided.

The size limitation order was one of several voided. Out of a wartime list of more than 178 food orders strictly regulating the nation's eating habits, less than 25 remain on the books.

An official said several of these probably will be discarded soon. Others, possibly including an order restricting the use of grain by distillers, may be eased further.

The bread order was put into effect last June 30, when world food grains were critically low, as a part of this country's contribution to the fight against famine.

* * *

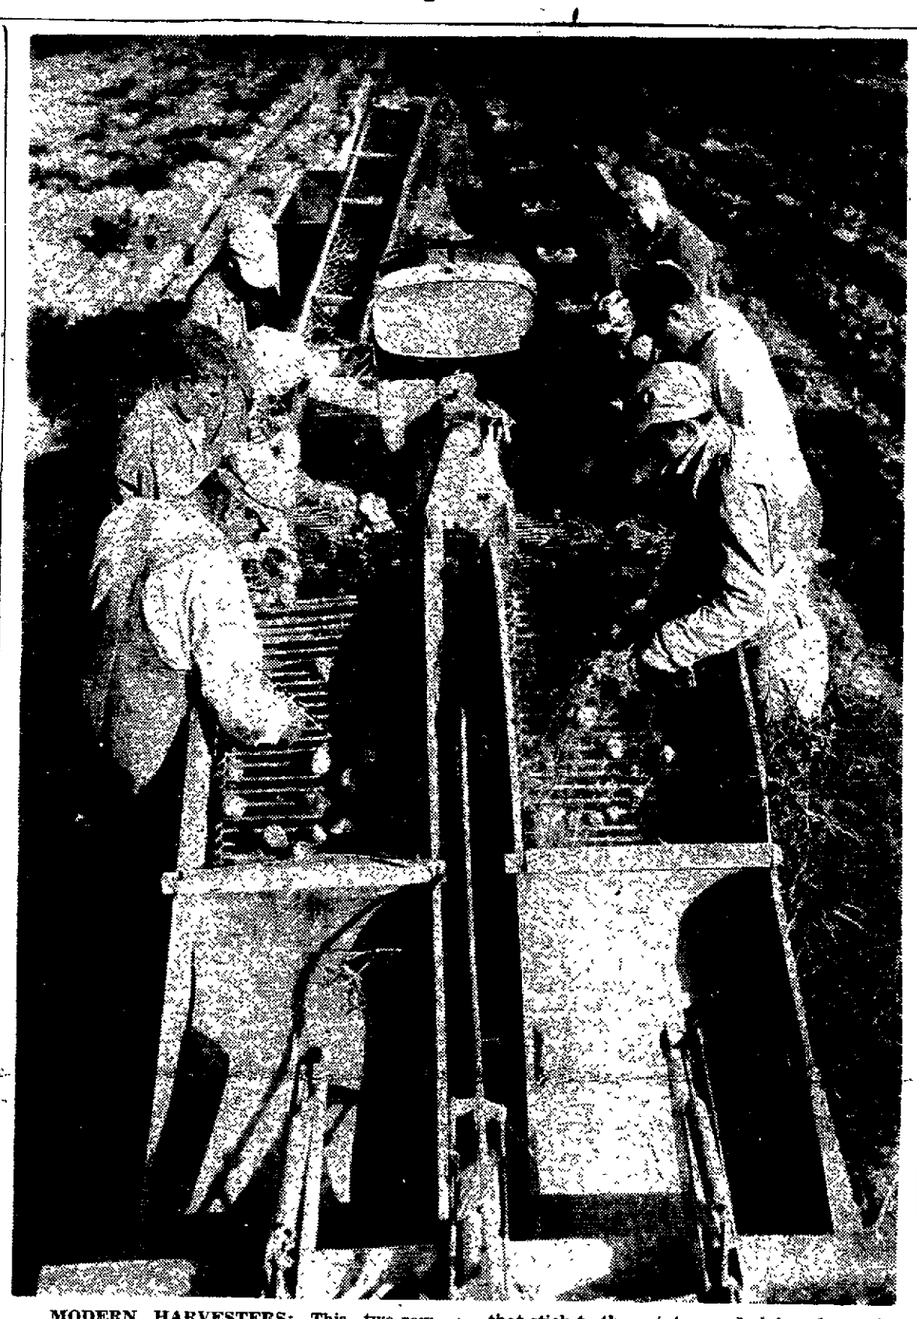
Lift Lid on Varieties.

Revocation apparently means that bakers in states with laws setting minimum weights for bread loaves and rolls will have to return to normal sized loaves almost immediately. Many of these states waived their law temporarily.

In states which do not have minimum weight laws, the decision will be up to individual bakers. A representative of the Associated Retail Bakers said he believed many bakers would stick to the smaller loaves and present prices until production costs drop.

The department said bakers also will no longer be limited to 20 varieties of bread and 12 varities of rolls. They likewise may return to consignment selling, under which they may take bread back if the retailer fails to sell it.

Also voided was the requirement that bakers enrich white bread and rolls. An agriculture official said bakers probably will continue the practice voluntarily, however.



MODERN HARVESTERS: This two-row experimental potato harvester is speeding digging operations on the Pinehurst farm on the Bowman street road, where thousands of bushels of spuds are being stored. Workers ride on the side of the machine, removing vines that stick to the potatoes and placing the spuds on a conveyor leading to the towed trailer. Workers are paid at an hourly rate comparable to industrial plant wages and may average nearly 150 bushels each in a nine-hour day, without the back-breaking labor formerly required of potato harvesters.

Plea for Vet Homes Prepared By Group

Impatient with delays in the proposed county veterans' housing project, a delegation of members of Amvets was to meet with county commissioners this afternoon to ask for speedy action to provide homes for vets.

Elden Becker, chairman of a three-man Amvet committee, said the meeting was arranged in an effort to "speed up" expenditure of $64,149 in state funds which the commissioners have available for emergency housing for veterans.

"The veterans need homes now, not in 1949 or 1951," Becker said. "The meeting will also afford us a chance to offer the commissioners any help that our organization may be able to give them in realizing the construction of housing units."

Commissioners have held the special state money, which may be spent only for emergency housing for veterans, since Sept. 20. Since then they have said repeatedly that they are looking for potential sites for the units and are considering what type of buildings they should use.

The commissioners recently requested the county fair board for permission to use part of the fairground as a site but the fair board failed to return any definite answer despite two meetings on the request.

The meeting between the commissioners and the Amvet committee, consisting of Becker, Lester Adams and Norman Hakes, was scheduled for the commissioners' office at 4 p. m. today.

MISHAP FATAL TO DETROIT MAN

Engineer Dies After Crash East of Ruggles.

ASHLAND — Harry Koenneke, 54, a Detroit research engineer, died at Samaritan hospital at 10 p. m. Friday of injuries he suffered when his car turned over on U. S. Route 224 two miles east of Ruggles at 12:30 p. m. yesterday. Death resulted from a crushed chest and multiple internal injuries, authorities said.

Mr. Koenneke and his wife, Henrietta, who was with him when the car skidded on the wet pavement, had to be pried from beneath the overturned vehicle by Denbow-Baer ambulance drivers.

Mrs. Koenneke was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises and will be released today, it was said.

Mr. Koenneke was formerly a resident of Reading, O., and his body will be taken there for burial.

Survivors, besides his wife, include one son, Clifford of East Orange, N. J., who flew to Ashland, but arrived too late to see his father before he died. Three brothers and one grandchild also survive.

GOVERNMENT MOVES TO PUSH VET HOUSING

Plans to Remove Duty On Lumber Products, Pay Premium On Nails.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government embarked on a series of new expedients today to round up scarce lumber and nails for veterans' housing including the removal of import duties on wood suitable for construction.

These developments came in quick order:

1. President Truman proclaimed an emergency under which a list of timber, lumber and lumber products designated by National Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt will be duty free. Wyatt planned to have the list ready Monday.
2. Wyatt announced the government will pay manufacturers a premium of $20 a ton for housing nails produced in excess of quotas based on their output in the first half of 1946.
3. The housing agency and civilian production administration launched a drive against Black markets in which they said nails sell for as much as ten times the legal price.
4. The NHA and CPA reported that leading nail companies have pledged a production boost of nearly 25 percent by December.

NHA officials said the waiver of duty will offset the threat to lumber shipments from Canada, main source of imported wood, which resulted when Canada revalued its dollar to parity with the U. S. dollar. This made the U. S. dollar worth 10 percent less in terms of Canadian exchange.

Chairman Carroll Reece of the Republican national committee called the action a mere political maneuver.

NHA officials conceded privately, meanwhile, that the 1946 goal of starting 1,200,000 new homes and apartments would be missed, although not, they said, by far.

Nevertheless the year's building activity, they predicted, will exceed by a good margin the all-time peak of 1925 when 937,000 homes were started. The 1925 dwelings were virtually all permanent ones, however, and many of those going up now are temporary.

DELAY DISCHARGES

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The war department said today it will be unable to discharge before Jan. 1, 1947, all of the 200,000 non-volunteers drafted during 1945. The army said a shortage of shipping facilities would delay the discharge of some men now in the European and Pacific theaters.

NAZI CARRIED POISON FROM DAY CAPTURED

Investigators Find Evidence Death Potion Hidden In Navel Cavity.

NUERNBERG — (AP) — Hermann Goering had suicide poison from the time of his capture, the four-power mission investigating his death reported today.

The commission did not say definitely where the No. 2 Nazi hid the poison with which he cheated the gallows on the eve of his scheduled execution.

An official announcement declared, however, "There is reason to support the view that at one time Goering could have carried the poison secreted in a cavity in his umbilical (navel)."

But the commission report declared definitely that the poison "was not there throughout his imprisonment," and said positively that "at some stage it was in his alimentary tract."

"An obscure recess in the inside of a toilet under an overhanging rim could have concealed a container for a time without detection except by extraordinary search," the report said.

* * *

Sentry Absolved.

The commission absolved the American sentry on duty at Goering's cell and said that "no blameworthy action or negligence is ascribed to the other prison guards of the U. S. Army."

"Nor was there any evidence tending to involve German workers in the small prison," the commission added.

"The security measures taken were proper in the peculiar conditions of the trial and were satisfactorily carried out," the commission said.

'CAT BURGLAR' STRIKES AGAIN

Ex-Ambassador Kennedy's Daughter Victimized.

LONDON —(AP)— Daring jewel thieves have taken $40,000 in gems at the home of the marchioness of Hartington, daughter of former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, Scotland Yard announced today, and made away with a rich loot in two other homes.

Gems and furs valued at $20,000 were stolen from an Ormie Square home, and diamonds and heirlooms worth $3,200 were taken from the St. James palace home of Lady Piers Legh, another titled American woman.

Scotland Yard, still hunting for the wily cat burglar who stole $80,000 in gems from the Duke and Duchess of Windsor 10 days ago, noted a similarity in the crafty preparation and almost ghostlike entry in the new robberies.

The victim of the St. James palace robbery is Lady Piers Legh, the former Sarah Polk of Nashville, Tenn., who married Sir Piers Legh, master of the king's household, in 1920. Sir Piers was equerry to the duke of Windsor when he was Prince of Wales.

Lady Hartington, second daughter of the former ambassador, is the war widow of the marquess of Huntington, son of the duke of Devonshire. Her husband, a major in the Coldstream guards whom she married in the spring of 1944, was killed in action in Europe four months later.

Modern Machinery Speeds Harvest Of Bumper Potato Crop In County

By ART ANDERSON

So, you like potatoes? Served what style?

Baked, and cut in two, then topped with a chunk of butter? Or mashed and snowy-white with lots of rich cream and served with dark gravy? Or do you prefer those golden-brown French fries?

No matter what your choice may be, there are literally millions of such tasty dishes in the raw being harvested on a number of Mansfield-area farms theses cool autumn days.

One of the larger potato farms in the county is the Pinehurst farm 14 miles north of Mansfield on the Bowman street road.

Use Modern Methods.

Spuds are harvested there on a big scale and with modern machinery which makes the job look easy. Earlier in the season Irish Cobblers were dug, graded, bagged, and on the way to Mansfield markets within 15 minutes. The farm has had 20,000 bushels of potatoes stored this week.

The yield on Pinehurst farm has averaged up to 300 bushels

Japs Pay Honor To MacArthur

TOKYO.—(INS)— General Douglas MacArthur was given what the Japanese consider a signal honor to a popular hero today.

The supreme Allied commander's military portrait is adorning Japan's "battledores"—flat sticks which are used in traditional New Year's day ceremonies.

It was believed to be the first time that a foreign personality has had his portrait on the battledores.

WORKERS FAIL TO PICK AGENT

Run-off Needed to Decide OPS Bargaining Election.

Results of a collective bargaining election among Ohio Public Service company workers at Masnsfield and other Ohio cities, announced today by the National Labor Relations board, disclosed a tie between CIO and AFL unions among production workers and a majority vote for no union among distribution workers.

The Associated Press reported a run-off election will be necessary because of the tie among 215 eligible production employes at Alliance, Mansfield, Lorain and Dills Bottom.

The AFL operating engineers and the CIO utility workers each received 88 votes. Fourteen votes were for neither union, one was void and three were challenged. The NLRB said a date for the run-off will be set later.

Votes for neither union topped the returns among 300 eligible distribution workers in Sandusky, Port Clinton, Bellevue, Vermilion, Elyria, Ashland, Massillon, Alliance, Lorain and Mansfield. Ballots for neither union numbered 108, the AFL received 88 and the CIO 78.

The CIO Utility Workers of America, which suspended a strike among production workers at the plant at Warren until the election could be held, registered 80 of the 89 votes cast, the NLRB said.

CANTON —(AP)— Firefighting and first aid equipment used in civilian defense operations during the war and valued at $30,000 will go on sale here Tuesday, the War Assets administration in Cleveland said today. The sale of items will last four days.

BULLETIN

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—CIO President Philip Murray served notice on the steel industry today that the 900,000 members of the United Steelworkers of America will seek a 'healthy' wage increase as soon as possible. He did not specify the amount to be sought. Addressing a district convention of the steelworkers, Murray estimated take-home cuts at 30 per cent due to reduced working hours.

Epic of St. Peter's To Be Told

The epic story of St. Peter's church which Thursday begins the observance of its centenary will be told in tomorrow's News-Journal. A series of pictures, one of the fire which destroyed the church in 1889, the present church, the school and others will be found on page 20.

Tomorrow, also, citizens once more express their views on the proposed levy to establish a supervised program of recreation and Fred Tharp, N-J sports editor, after making a survey of youth recreation in other Ohio cities, gives his views on the subject, along with a layout of pictures taken in Akron and Canton.

Another story with pictures on nearby communities, this time Shelby, will appear.

MASHA'S STUFFED MOTHER GOOSE is a new book in which all the Mother Goose people look like stuffed toys. The pictures are funny. Simple Simon is all arms and legs; Old King Cole is very fat and eating gumdrops; The blind mice are wearing dark glasses. Many other pictures and the old familiar rhymes make this a grand book for small people.

Once upon a time Ohio was nothing but trees, fields and rivers and only the Indians lived here. Then it was that the Burd family moved to Losantiville from Gray Falls, Pennsylvania to Losantiville BY WAGON AND BY FLAT-BOAT. They knew it would be dangerous but they didn't care. They knew that when the danger came they would meet it. And they did. You'll be proud to be an Ohioan after you read this book by Enid Meadowcroft.

Imagine having the most dreaded man in the world living in your house! That's what happened to Betsy Balcombe, a very real girl, who lived on the island of St. Helena when Napoleon was finally defeated by the English and sent there for the rest of his life. Cruel, tyrannical, world conqueror—that is what some people said. Brave, a real hero said others. But BETSY'S NAPOLEON was a friend, mischievous and jolly, who teased and tricked her and often gave generous gifts. Jeanette Eaton has read diaries and letters written by the real Betsy Balcombe and her friends and has based her book on them.

Gobel was losing the fight. He was stretched helplessly over the Frenchman's knee, being pressed down, down in a grip that was bound to break his back. Bob Evans leaped to help his friend and struck the Frenchman. He honestly forgot that he held a knife in his hand when he struck but he knew that few people would believe him. He ran away and followed THE SUN TRAIL into adventure. Merrit Allen always writes good stories and this one is full of the adventure and daring and courage that comes only from real life.

Halloween High Jinks

HOBGOBLIN APPLES . . . For Halloween fun.

* * * * *

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS

There's no holiday that's more the children's own than Halloween. Always they should have costumes, a little spookiness—though never enough to really frighten them—and always, if possible, they should have a party.

A Halloween party can be very simple and still be great fun. Give them something good to eat, by their standards—not elaborate by yours. Decorate everything in truly Halloween fashion. Have things arranged so that no damage can be done, and let the young go their own gait.

Hobgoblin Apples: Allow one large apple for each guest. Cut off top, remove core, and hollow out apple, leaving shell about ½ inch thick. Chop portion of apple removed, combine with raisins or small seedless grapes, walnut meats and mayonnaise. With a small sharp knife, draw triangular eyes, nose and a half-moon mouth on side of apple, cutting deeply enough so that peel can be removed. Replace peel with cream cheese. Stuff apple with chopped fruit and nut mixture, and replace top as hat.

Magic Cauldron: Use a large preserving kettle or a pail for the cauldron. If desired, cover with orange or dark green crepe paper. Make three "logs" of rolled newspaper and cover with brown crepe paper. Arrange logs in a triangle. Place a low dish upside down in center, on which cauldron can actually rest.

Fill cauldron with bottles of soft drinks, and surround with ice cubes or cracked ice. If bottles are well-chilled in advance, ice can be omitted and cauldron can be stuffed with just enough tissue paper to hold bottles in place. Against the side of the Magic Cauldron, stand a small "witch's broom" (you can make one by attaching a rolled paper handle to a clean whisk broom). Have extra bottles of soft drinks in the refrigerator so that the cauldon can be kept full.

Ghost Hot Dogs: Allow one or two frankfurters for each guest, and an equal number of slices of bread with crusts removed. Spread each slice of bread lightly with prepared mustard. Place frankfurter on edge of slice and roll up so that bread forms a blanket around the frankfurter. Secure with a toothpick. Brush outside of bread with melted butter. Bake in 400 degree oven for twenty minutes. Before serving, remove toothpick and roll in a white paper napkin, folded the width of the bread blanket. The tips of the hot dogs will show at each end.

Spook Sandwiches: Cut rounds from slices of bread with cookie cutter. Cut eyes, nose and mouth in half the rounds, using small sharp-pointed scissors. Spread remaining rounds of bread with softened butter and jelly, and top with "face."

And for dessert? With sugar so scarce, it's something of a problem. "Boughten" doughnuts may solve the problem. If you have any sugar, do make some ginger or molasses cookies in cat and witch and other appropriate shapes. The youngsters will enjoy helping with that. You might serve chocolate ice cream with orange sauce over it, for a color scheme appropriate to the occasion. In any event, be sure they have a fine, hilarious, spooky time.

COMPLETE confidence in your partner is not a good thing if by that expression you mean literal belief in the natural meaning of every bid and play he makes. Faith in the fact that he is there doing a good job is all right, or at least that he is trying to. But there are times when his succession of bids indicates that some call or calls by him could not possibly be based on the cards it would seem to proclaim. At such a time, you should be suspicious of his earlier bid or bids and try to figure out what good reasons he had for it or them.

1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♣	4 ♣	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dbl

That was set two tricks by the diamond A, the club J to the A and a ruff of the diamond 5, whereupon the trouble began—the civil war of North vs. South, each blaming the other.

North realized why South had made his bizarre bid of 2-Hearts. It was that he feared, with East's vulnerable overcall, that the opponents might be headed somewhere in the major suit not held by North and South, but he argued that South was much too strong for such a psychic, holding three queens opposite an opening bid, even if he did have a fine escape into North's spade suit.

After granting that, South insisted North should have read the psychic. North's 3-Club bid, the opponent's suit, of course is a standard way of showing ample support for the partner's suit, in this case hearts, together with strength enough for a game contract in it. When South after that showed support of spades instead of rebidding hearts at the four range, North should have mistrusted him, as with ample spade support South never should have bid those hearts. South blamed North for going to 5-Hearts, bidding small slam.

East and West just smiled through the argument and enjoyed it.

LONDON — (INS) — Important British political circles were quoted today in an interpretation of Prime Minister Clement Attlee's blunt criticism of Russia as marking the end of the "hats off to Stalin era."

Attlee accused the Soviet chiefs of deliberately erecting a "wall of ignorance and suspicion" between the Russian people and the rest of the world.

Winston Churchill, addressing another audience, praised the prime minister's speech and commended Britain's action in "putting its foot down on communists" as setting an example for other countries "where lives and freedom hang in the balance."

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

A peddler, his cart loaded with boxes of cheap stationery, advertised his wares in a loud voice at a Delancey Street corner, but attracted nary a customer. Nobody seemed to want a "box of genuine linen station'ry an' fifty envelopes for twenty-five cents."

Suddenly, however, another hawker wheeled a bigger cart right next to the first one, and began bellowing, "Here y'are folks! Box of fine stationery an' fifty envelopes for ten cents—one dime! Don't pay more!"

The two men glared at each other. A crowd gathered first to watch, and then to buy out the entire stock of the ten-cent merchant completely. A reporter who caught the story declares that all Delancey Street bought enough stationery to satisfy five years' demand. Then everybody hung around to jeer at the disconsolate peddler who had thought that he could get a quarter for his wares.

On a sudden hunch, the reporter followed the quarter-man when he wheeled his cart away. Two blocks down, he caught up with the ten-cent peddler. The two men shook hands gleefully and started dividing up the quarter-man's inventory. "It worked like a charm," chuckled the latter. "Let's try Mott Street next!"

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, October 26, 1946

Sunday's horoscope is a pleasant and profitable one, especially where serious matters, duties and obligations come up for calm and wise adjustments. These may concern the church, clergy, or job, in which long and lasting benefits crown the proper and shrewd management of current events. "Slow but sure" might be a good motto, although the imagination, intuitions and emotions are reliable in their promptings.

Those whose birthday it is may run into a year in which important decisions come up for sound consideration, as they concern future security, position, labors and real and material investments or possessions as well. Duties, responsibilities and obligations may be the incentive for this extra attention, calm logic and sound policies, since enduring and lasting values are at stake.

A child born on this day has sound and serious outlook on the affairs of life, and its approach will be with diligence, fidelity and high purpose. It may be profound and spiritually minded.

EMPLOYERS INCREASE

COLUMBUS —(AP)— More than 61,300 Ohio employers, an all-time record high, will submit quarterly contributions under the Ohio unemployment compensation law by Oct. 31, Charles H. Jones, Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation administrator, said today. Prior to V-J day, Jones said, the agency covered approximately 51,500 employers.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1946

Drive carefully tomorrow—and remember that it is unsafe to drive after drinking.

One observer has an idea that beef priced at $1.50 a pound should add to the contented cow's sense of security.

One Mansfield store reports arrival of a big shipment of lawn mowers—and the manager is confidently anticipating a plentiful supply of snow shovels by next spring.

Mansfield Has Neglected Recreation

NEED for a recreation levy in Mansfield is quite obvious.

It is more than a case of curbing vandalism or checking juvenile delinquency. It is a plain duty of all citizens to help provide opportunity for clean, healthful, safe play for every child in the city.

Mansfield has miserably failed to discharge this duty in years past. An excellent start has been made in the creation of fine public parks and in voting funds for new school buildings which will have gymnasiums, auditoriums, and other facilities available in years to come.

But the record of how Mansfield has used its parks and present schools, except in a few instances, falls far short of the record of other cities of comparable size. Lima, for example, has an outstanding program supported by public funds.

Mansfield has a number of vigorous and conscientious youth leaders. They have long been handicapped by lack of funds and equipment. They are now in the forefront of the drive to pass a two-tenths mill levy for recreation at the November 5 election. They estimate that the levy will cost the average home owner only 60 cents a year, yet it will provide a full-time, trained recreation director who would serve the year around.

The $12,000 annually that would be raised by the levy would be administered by a commission appointed by the mayor.

As a city which even transient visitors regard as progressive and alive, Mansfield can no longer afford to be without supervised summer playgrounds, adequate winter sports, dramatics and more community events. The levy will provide them. Vote FOR it.

Landlords Entitled To Reasonable Profit

DETERMINED efforts being made by some landlords, and their lobbyists, to do away with rent controls reflect the quite general desire to return to unhampered competition under the law of supply and demand—as soon as it can safely be done.

Once again, if there could be assurance of honest dealing by ALL landlords, and if all of them would be satisfied with a reasonable profit on ACTUAL INVESTMENT, plus upkeep and maintenance costs, there would be no justification for continuance of rent controls.

But past and present experience has shown that the inclination to get the highest possible rent out of either a residential or business property has extended to at least a sufficient minority of property owners to weaken public confidence in the dependability of verbal understandings between landlords and tenants.

Seattle, Wash., is the starting place of what is called a "landlords' strike," with apartment house owners refusing to rent vacated apartments to new tenants until rent controls have been removed. Similar action is threatened in some other large cities.

Retention of rent controls was almost unanimously supported by congress, and the continuing housing shortage seems to justify this action. There are some cases in which a rent increase can be justified by higher upkeep and repair costs, and these should be handled individually—but any effort to boost rents to accord with present greatly inflated real estate prices deserves to be vigorously opposed.

Football Tie Scores Evidence Equality

ANOTHER tied score, 6-6, in last night's football game between Mansfield and Canton Timken high schools, indicates an equality of ability which more fully reflects the American ideal than would a victory by either side.

Last week's 12-12 score, in the Mansfield-Massillon game, while it deprived both teams, and their supporters, of the glow of victory, was another exemplification of equality in skill, training and physical endurance, which might well be emulated in other fields of endeavor.

It is only equality of opportunity that can be offered in America and it will continue to rest upon each individual to either take advantage of opportunities offered—or to muff them. A one-sided football score merely means that one team has better material, is better trained, and gives greater emphasis to athletics, than the other.

Penalty Is Placed On Neglect

AIR LINES have adopted the quite defensible policy of penalizing what are called "no show" ticket buyers, who find that they cannot make the planned trip but who fail to cancel reservation before flight time, thus depriving someone else of transportation.

In such cases a 25 per cent deduction is made from the refund on the unused ticket, which seems quite moderate, as this form of negligence had become so common that one company reported 20,000 "no shows" in the single month of August.

Disregard of appointment obligations also appears in other fields—many professional men complaining of delays resulting from failure of patients or clients to be prompt in keeping appointments—or admitting afterward that they "forgot about it." Some charge for time reserved would appear quite proper in such cases—and this might also serve as a "memory jogger" in connection with future appointments.

May Revive Oberammergau Play

THE Oberammergau Passion Play, last given in 1934, is to be revived in 1948 if the villagers can satisfy the American military government that the actors are not Nazis. This may be difficult, for the Oberammergauers are reported to have been strong for Hitler as long as all went well.

Even Anton Lang, the Christus of many years, known to thousands of Americans because of his tour of the United States some twenty years ago, was an ardent wearer of the swastika. As nearly every one in the village takes part in one way or another, denazification may be an insuperable obstacle.

Maybe there's nothing to it, but there's a story to the effect that President Truman's notation on postcards sent from the White House is: "Wish YOU were here."

British Laborites Holding Fast To Nation's Traditional Foreign Policy

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

ONE of the claims made in behalf of the Labor party in its 1945 campaign for control of the British government was that it would be able to get along better with Russia than could Winston Churchill's conservatives.

Now, a year and a half later, we find the Labor prime minister speaking bitterly of Russia's isolationism and propaganda warfare against every system except her own. Atlee, as the London dispatches point out, has taken a view very similar to that of Churchill in his famous speech at Fulton, Mo.

This cannot properly be termed a turn of events, since there never was any official indication that the Laborites would depart from traditional British foreign policy.

Neither Socialism nor Communism has yet equalled the force of nationalism. But it does serve to emphasize how far Russia has gone within a comparatively short period to antagonize non-communist elements abroad with whom she might have been able to establish at least a modicum of cooperation.

This also is evident in the vociferous campaign now being waged for elimination or modification of the veto right in the UN Security council, where Russian usage has weakened the support originally given the veto idea by Britain and, particularly, the United States.

The latter, a reservoir of all the things which others covet, containing the industrial power which has decided two World wars and the most likely initial target for the next, has the best reasons of all for desiring to retain the veto for self-protection.

United States interests are world-wide. She does not wish to have outsiders vote her, willy nilly, into positions at violent variance with these interests, no matter how whole-hearted her support of the UN to that extent, the U.S. position on the veto is much like that of Russia.

But to have one country use the veto to help establish half a world of its own, vis-a-vis the other half, was never envisioned. It is such intemperance which has produced the strange picture of the United States withholding economic aid from Czechoslovakia, a country which we godfathered; of Bevin and Churchill lining up together against the veto; and of British Laborite and Conservative leaders equally exasperated over Russia.

It indicates that the veto will eventually be eliminated or modified perhaps depriving the great powers of a really needed device.

Careful observers discount the possibility that, in this event, Russia would pull out of the UN. That would cause the fear already engendered by her foreign policy to become dynamically anti-Russian, something she cannot want.

Mr. Molotov arrived for the assembly meeting with word that Russia was determined to work for the success of the UN. He did not say whether Russia had realized that it could not be merely for the success of one of the many entities of which the UN is composed. That would have meant a part of the "change" for which Mr. Attlee said we must hope.

Democratic Jitters Observed In Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Any change nationally in a political way usually can be forecast by atmospheric disturbances in the border states.

There are such disturbances here in Kentucky, as already reported previously in Missouri, President Truman's home state. They seem to mean no good for Democrats. As one asute political reporter put it, there is something in the situation here reminiscent of 1932 when the Roosevelt wave was getting ready to hit—only now its in exactly the opposite direction.

Republicans literally are pinching themselves. They say the reports are almost too good to believe. Democrats here are obviously much worried, as they are, too, at national headquarters in Washington.

For they are most anxious to win the senate seat at stake here, temporarily filled by a Republican appointee, to help hold what is beginning to look like a precarious margin—if any—in the United States senate.

The senate race is reported now about 50-50. Republicans are backing John Sherman Cooper, state circuit court judge, a personable and forceful candidate, against John Young Brown, a perennial candidate for this and that, who served a term in the house at the start of the Roosevelt New Deal. Mr. Brown is a vigorous campaigner who has made some enemies through the years.

From certain signs this reporter would deduce, going out on a limb, that Republicans have a more than even chance to win the senate seat and also increase their house strength, possibly by two seats, maybe more.

The Democratic jitters were manifest, among other ways, by sending their political man mountain, Senator Alben W. Barkley, over the state on one of his characteristic harnstorming tours.

The Democratic senate leader, a popular figure in this state, stretched his party regularity to the Nth degree when he even spoke for Rep. Andrew J. May, who is facing a hard fight. Mr. May, house military affairs committee chairman, is still confined to his home with the illness that has kept him from going to Washington to testify in the Garsson case in which he is involved.

The senate seat being contested has been occupied for the past year by Republican William Stanfill who was appointed by Republican Gov. Simeon S. Willis, to the vacancy created when Democratic Senator "Happy" Chandler resigned to become the boss of professional baseball. The term has two years to run.

"Happy" has a grudge stake in this race. It was Mr. Brown, the Democratic candidate, who spilled the story about the swimming pool built by a contractor friend on the present baseball czar's place when he was senator.

Whatever political influence "Happy" still possesses is being exerted against Mr. Brown in one of those intra-party feuds.

Mr. Brown has the support of the United Mine Workers which is potent in the ninth district, an otherwise solidly Republican mountain district in southeastern Kentucky which now has the state's only Republican house member, Rep. John Robsion. Democrats hope their senatorial candidate will be able to cut down, for himself, the normal Republican majority, 30,000, which that district usually turns in.

Penny Candy Store.

Penny candy has gone the way of the cigar store Indian. It has been the victim of rising costs and the shortages of sugar and other ingredients.

Today's children do not know the joy of standing before the glass showcase and selecting "one of those, and two of these" after long deliberation while grimy fingers clutched the hard-earned or hard-begged penny.

They do not know the thrill of hollow licorice cigarets, or the sugary white ones with a spot of red at one end to simulate the fire; the chocolate cigars; the sweet realistic kernels of corn; the licorice whip; the jawbreaker; the waxy miniature milk bottle which when chewed would spurt out its ounce or so of lemonade, or the chocolate creams in a box which would yield a premium if the lucky youngster happened to select a pink center instead of the ordinary white.—Minneapolis Star-Journal.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Atmosphere of Optimism Pervades Opening of UN General Assembly

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

ADDRESSING the opening session of the United Nations general assembly in New York, President Truman announced that the United States was not discouraged and "we shall continue to seek agreement by every possible means." Arriving in New York, Russia's fiery Foreign Minister Molotov uttered words of hope and reassurance.

Amid this atmosphere of optimism, perhaps a normal reaction to the bitterness which had appeared at the Paris peace conference, the delegates of 51 United Nations commenced their sessions in a refurbished World's fair building in New York city's Flushing Meadows.

It was the second meeting of the general assembly, the first in America. At London last winter this basic body of the United Nations organizations had set itself up in business.

According to the UN charter, the assembly "may consider the general principles in the maintenance of international peace and security."

Leisurely Agenda.

Now the delegates set about the task of solving less explosive problems of the world. Unlike the more spectacular security council, the assembly has no veto provision, represents all of the United Nations.

During the next six weeks its agenda calls for dealing with the welfare of perhaps 1,000,000 European refugees, restoring devastated parts of Europe. It is also expected to consider a plan to create a world health organization and to decide, once and for all, where the world capital will be set up in the United States.

If the assembly's work is harmonious the security council is expected to reflect the situation in its dealings with touchier matters.

Directly under the assembly is the economic and social council. Tied with this are agencies on human rights, transportation, employment and organizations like that for food and agriculture, the international bank, the international labor organization.

Reports from these will take much time during the present session.

At Home

Air Pilots Grounded.

Trans-World Airlines flies over 28,270 miles of routes—from coast to coast and overseas to such world capitals as Paris, Rome, Cairo, Athens. During the week 115 big two- and four-engined TWA planes were suddenly grounded at U. S. airports as 1,400 of the company's pilots went on strike.

Members of an American Federation of Labor union which had been engaged for months in wage negotiations, the TWA airmen sought salaries ranging up to $1,187 a month for chief pilots. The union reckoned their previous earnings at from $7,600 to $9,100 a year, but the company said they ranged as high as $12,598, and that the demands would boost the highest-paid pilots to $15,300 annually.

The nation's first major airline strike stranded 3,000 passengers, including the Indian delegation to the United Nations at Shannon airport, Eire.

* * *

Mine Boss Speaks.

The U. S. strike picture showed an end to the 27-day Pittsburgh power walkout when employes of the Duquesne Light company voted to submit to arbitration their demands for a 20 percent pay increase. And on the east and Gulf coasts striking CIO marine engineers, mates and masters approached a settlement of their wage strike which commenced October 1.

But John L. Lewis asked to reopen his AFL mineworkers' contract with the government. Lewis, threatening action that might shut down the nation's soft coal mines November 20 or possibly even sooner, said the government had breached the agreement that was reached last May.

In what amounted to an ultimatum, the labor leader told Interior Secretary Julius Krug that failure to the latter to meet him at Washington before November 1 would be taken as invalidating the mine workers' contract. Lewis's strike formula has been, "No contract, no work."

* * *

Peace Formula.

Sir Henry Dale, British scientist, proposed at Philadelphia what many savants must have thought of, since the atom bomb shook the world.

He asked scientists from 25 nations, in a meeting of the National Academy of Scientists: "Could not the universities of the world unite in banning secrecy from any activities of their departments?"

An oath to work only for the welfare of mankind, not for warring governments, has been suggested, he said.

* * *

Veterans Protest.

Seventy-two home-seeking veterans of World War II precipitated themselves into New York state's stormy political campaign by camping in the capitol senate chamber for one sleepless night.

They had come to Albany—from New York city mostly—to demand that Republican Governor Thomas Dewey declare a "housing emergency" and call a special session of the legislature to provide homes for vets.

Next day the governor consented to see the veterans. Leaving the senate they entered a well-guarded executive chamber where Gov. Dewey said the housing shortage was caused by lack of materials and labor, not by Republican inaction.

Abandoning their sit-down, the delegation went home, after calling for Dewey's defeat.

Abroad

Between Two Spheres.

Forthright, chunky Ernest Bevin, the Labor government's foreign secretary of Great Britain, told the house of commons where Britain stood.

As usual, it seemed to be in the middle.

"We are not ganging up with anybody," Bevin said, in answer perhaps to critics who had said the nation was hauling too many U. S.-heated chestnuts.

But he made it clear that his firmness against Soviet aspirations in many quarters of the world remained, though he wanted no east-west division, which he said "must—and I am sure can be—prevented." He said he agreed "almost" completely with U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes' Stuttgart speech which favored a self-supporting Germany.

On the eve of his departure for the United States meeting of Big Four foreign ministers, Bevin reiterated his country's interest in Iran and Greece, backed Turkey on the Dardanelles.

* * *

"Dollar Geography?"

Moscow's Pravda lashed savagely at American bolstering of Turkey on the question of Russian Control of the Dardanelles.

"After all, where is Turkey and where are the straits located?" the official Communist publication demanded editorially. "We have heard of dollar diplomacy and about the democracy of the dollar. Maybe the geography of the dollar is beginning to appear, with a new division of the continents."

In Washington, Secretary of State James Byrnes vigorously objected to Soviet charges that "the United States desires to make 'handouts' to European governments in order to enslave their peoples."

* * *

Bloody Disorders.

Sporadic battles between Hindus and Moslems flared in Bombay and Calcutta.

Tension heightened throughout the freedom-seeking subcontinent as word spread that Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading minister in the new interim government, had been stoned by hostile Moslems. This took place in the northwest frontier country while the Hindu leader was on tour. Nehru and three members of his party sustained injuries.

A sudden influex of 4,000 refugees brought to 10,000 the number of fugitives from rural terror in Calcutta.

* * *

Underground Rumbles.

After the 1918 armistice bands of ex-Wehrmacht men formed terror gangs that raged Germany. They called themselves "Freikorps" and their purpose was to prevent the development of a non-militarist, democratic Fatherland. By assassination and violence they largely succeeded, paved the way for Nazidom and another world war.

When three bombs exploded in Stuttgart during the week, U. S. Army officers saw something resembling a revival of Freikorps terrorism. The bombs were planted near courts where Germans, under Allied auspices, were trying other Germans accused of Nazi crimes.

Quotes

Ambassador George C. Atcheson, jr., Gen. MacArthur's political adviser: "The time has come when Japanese aims are practically synonymous with Allied aims."

Sen. Tom Connally, returning from Paris peace conference: "I deplore the talk of another war. Russia doesn't want another war; Stalin and Molotov do not want another war. The Paris peace conference accomplished substantial results."

Listen World!

Real Communists No Longer Exist.

By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU MAY not realize it but I am peering at you across a pile of letters as tall as myself. Which is plenty tall.

All the letters are on one subject. I wrote an article. It was directed at these reds and parlor pinks who insist on calling me Tovarich or Comrade.

Now I have nothing against the word Comrade in itself. It's a good word and I wish we could all live up to it. But not in the sense which my communicants used it—namely, a Communistic title.

I am not a Communist and any time anyone assumes that I am, I get so mad my ears blister. So I got mad in an article and now everything that has been booted out of Moscow is pointing the error of my ways. So I think it's time for a little homely talk on the subject.

In the first place, Communism is "the little man who isn't there." Communism ceased to be a practical performance quite some years ago when the Big Boys took over.

It started with a fine theory—a theory which any free minded person would have applauded. For years the working class of Russia had suffered intolerable abuse. From the time I was a child I read of that abuse and applauded the struggle against it. I have never been a Communist nor wanted to be one but I was enthusiastic in my admiration for the brave men and women who eventually helped free Russia.

Everything would have been perfectly lovely if Russia had stayed free. But there is something about our strange human nature that demands to be kicked around. And for the last few years Russia has been kicked. And plenty.

The Communists are not running Russia, for the Communists no longer exist, save in name. Joe Stalin is running Russia and when Joe shuffles off I suppose Molotov, that big pout, will take his place, or somebody like him.

But the poor dear Communists don't even know that they have ceased to exist.

They are a pest in this country and in every other land they have inhabited. My No. 1 gripe is not against Communism, however. It is against the sappy Americans who allow them to strut their stuff in our free institutions and sneer at us the while we give them all the advantages of democracy.

Mind you, I don't think too highly of democracy either. It's a nice name but we're a long way from living up to it. However we're making a fairly decent stab at it and I have faith enough in this nation to believe that we'll some day arrive at our goal.

But I have no use whatever for the species of bum which migrates from Moscow or other Russian way stations and then proceeds to gripe about America.

America has her faults and very great ones. But at that she is so much better than what is going on behind the iron curtain that the contrast is pitiful.

In his book, "Generation of Vipers," Philip Wylie has this to say: "Apologists for Communism explain that it broke down in Russia because Russia was not an industrial nation. That specious argument needs no rebuttal. The Soviet itself has furnished it. Communism broke down because men are not created equal, donot work equally, cannot be paid equally, do not have equal social or financial deserts, will not produce their best efforts in a society that is not competitive, cannot be made to work long or hard or with brilliance if they are not permitted to own, possess, buy or sell or do business with each other."

That is the simple and devastating truth about Communism. It no longer exists and it wasn't so hot when it did. Those who are aware of current conditions in Russia know that the Russians lead about as miserable an existence as human beings ever experienced.

They do not enjoy even a margin of the freedom for which their fathers died, which is a very great shame. For the Russian in himself is a brave and sturdy person and would probably make a neat job of his life if the big bullies would let him alone.

There is the truth about Russia. But it isn't half as shameful as the truth about America. Without a word of protest we let these miserable creatures into our shores and grant them all our privileges and allow them to spit in our faces. Then we send them automobiles or stand by and watch them kill Mikhailovich. Are we men or are we mice?

I'll give you one guess.

Paul's Widening Field of Service — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 13:1-14; 44-49; 14; 26:19-20; I Tim. 2:5-7.

At Antioch, Syria, where there were several teachers of the church, the Holy Ghost commanded that Paul and Barnabas go on a missionary journey; after fasting and prayer, they started.

At Paphos, the deputy of the country, Sergius Paulus, asked to learn of Jesus, and when Paul and Barnabas tried to tell him, a sorcerer and false prophet interfered and was blinded.

At Antioch in Pisidia, almost the whole city listened to Paul and Barnabas, but Jewish leaders contradicted and blasphemed, so Paul said if they would not listen he would preach to Gentiles.

Tried before King Agrippa, Paul told of his vision of Jesus, saying, "Whereupon, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision."

MEMORY VERSE—Mark 16:15.

PLEDGES SELF

Bevin to Seek Reconciliation of Ideologies.

LONDON —(INS)— British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin pledged himself today to strive at the United Nations assembly for reconciliation of American, British and Russian ideologies and to solve the basic problem of food distribution.

Addressing constituents in Wandsworth city hall, Bevin referred to "great conflict" in the realm of "fundamental policy. He said:

"The United States believes in completely free enterprise. In Britain, people believe in social democratic development. In Soviet Russia, they have accepted the Communist philosophy as interpreted by Marx and Lenin."

Three Fellowship Officers Elected

IBERIA—Everett Douce, Raymond Pangborn and Edward Edgar of the Iberia-Martel Methodist church were elected officers of the Methodist Youth Fellowship cabinet at the recent county rally and booth festival at Cardington. Dona Mae and Wilma Leathem, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Ness, Aurelia Ness, Dorothy Sutton, Virginia McCown, Laura Busler and Mrs. Charles Edgar.

SHORT ON COAL

Mines Produced 33,000,000 Tons Less This Year.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The threat of a new coal strike finds the nation with 33 million tons less coal produced so far this year than was mined in 1945, the National Coal association reported today.

Production for the week ended Oct. 19 was estimated at 12,500,000 net tons of bituminous coal, as against the 5,947,000 tons produced in the corresponding week of 1945, when a supervisory strike was in progress.

The week's output brought to 426,351,000 tons the amount of coal mined this year, as against the 459,573,000 tons mined to Oct. 20, 1945.

New Lighting Plan Debated

NEW LONDON—Plans for the proposed lighting system at the New London Recreation park were the major points of discussion at Monday's session of council here, with Homer H. Johnson, Virgil Burner and several other interested citizens taking part.

Climaxing the discussion, Mayor Wilmer White named a general committee headed by the council park committee of Ray Johnson and Glenn Miller, a member from each civic and public organizations of the village and five citizens, to confer on Friday evening at the Library auditorium to open the campaign that will procure enough subscriptions to erect the system.

A number of large cash subscriptions are already in but it is estimated that exclusive of the material donations already in, the cost of the complete system will be approximately $10,000.

On-Job Classes To Start Monday

Related training classes for on-the-job trainee electricians and carpenters will begin Monday night at the vocational department of Mansfield Senior high school, David J. Perry of the Veterans Administration said today.

Designed to offer the required theoretical and background training, the courses will consist of mathematics, blue print reading and trade theory for all, with electrical principles also offered for electricians.

INDIA BIDS

Nation Will Demand Egypt's Seat on Security Council.

NEW YORK—(INS)—India is going to demand for herself the seat on the security council being vacated by Egypt.

That disclosure came from the Indian delegation on the heels of statements by the Syrian delegation that its hat is in the ring for the same seat.

The two candidates, for various empire reasons, put the British more or less in a quandary and both the transatlantic telephone and cables between the foreign office in London and the United Kingdom delegation at UN have been kept busy since then.

City Orders New Garbage Vehicle

The city today had ordered a new garbage truck on the low bid of $3,396.85 submitted by the Brandenburg Chevrolet company.

Awarding the contract was made by the city board of control composed of Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow.

A bid of $140.75 each on 45 fire alarm boxes submitted by the Gamewell company was rejected by the board of control.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Legal help at a fixed $5 fee for the first consultation was made available to New Yorkers today.

All Grid Eyes Focused On Great Army Team

NEW YORK—(AP)—The country celebrates Navy day today but the eyes of football followers will be on the Army as the nation's No. 1 team seeks its 24th straight victory.

Topped by the Army-Duke clash at the Polo Grounds, big games and sell-out crowds are the rule in virtually every sector. And like Army, the rest of the unbeaten elevens face formidable competition.

Wallace Wade's Blue Devils present an imposing challenge to the Cadets. A powerful Duke line averaging 205 pounds is the obstacle Cadets Blanchard and Davis and their teammates have to hurdle.

Notre Dame goes to Iowa City for a real test with Iowa's Hawkeyes, noted on two occasions in the past for toppling the Irish on Iowa soil. The Hawkeyes did it in 1921 and again in 1939. A record crowd of 54,000 is expected for the encounter.

Another of the current big three risks its record when Texas meets Rice in Houston in a game that may send the balance of the Southwest conference campaign into a consolation race.

The South is loaded with big games, too. Tennessee, ranking No. 4, faces a tartar in Wake Forest at Knoxville Georgia, voted seventh strongest in the nation, plays at Furman, and North Carolina, rated No. 10, entertains Florida.

In the Midwest, Michigan and Illinois clash in an important Big Nine contest before an expected 86,000. Minnesota goes to Columbus for a meeting with Ohio State and 75,000 are expected. In non-conference competition, Indiana travels to Nebraska, Northwestern entertains College of Pacific, and Purdue invades Pittsburgh.

University of California at Los Angeles, the leader on the West Coast and currently ranking No. 5 in the nation, foregoes conference competition to meet Santa Clara. Southern California visits Stanford in the biggest sectional attraction.

In the East, Navy has to take second billing to Army as the headliner, although the Middies will draw a bigger crowd simply because Franklin field where the Middies meet Penn can hold the anticipated 75,000. And Penn is favored to spoil the Navy's own day.

In the Southern conference, Alabama entertains Kentucky, Auburn plays at Georgia Tech, Louisiana State at Vanderbilt and Mississippi State at Tulane.

In the renewal of an old rivalry, Boston college edged Villanova 14-12 before 30,800 at Boston last night. In other leading Friday night contests, Detroit whipped Drake 33-6, and the Oklahoma Aggies edged Texas Christian, 7-6, despite a 100-yard touchdown return of a kickoff by 150-pound Carl Knox for TCU's only score.

The Ohio State-Minnesota game promises something different in the 25-year-old Buck-Gopher grid relationship.

Minnesota-Ohio State clashes in the past usually have featured hard-driving running attacks. Today's fray threatens to develop into a struggle for aerial supremacy.

Coach Bernie Bierman's Gophers, long noted for grinding out ground yardage, boast the best forward passing average in the Big Nine—six completions in 12 heaves—and the nation's leading thrower as well, Left Halfback Everett Faunce who has completed 25 of 36 in two conference and two non-conference games.

Ohio State's Big Nine record of 10 completions in 27 tosses is not as impressive Buck Coach Paul Bixler, who admits his team hasn't been throwing good enough, has taken steps to improve the aerial attack.

He nominated as starting quarterback George Spencer whose chief stock-in-trade is a strong pitching arm that operates best for the "T" formation Spencer is taking precedence over first stringer Dick Palmer, out with an injury, and Bill Doolittle whose flipping leaves much to be desired.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—(UP)—First downs and fumbles on the sports scene:

America's already-selected Davis Cup team finally will be announced next week by the lackadaisical USLTA, a five-man outfit which will fly to Australia the middle of next month for the Dec. 26-28 challenge round.

National Champion Jack Kramer, Frankie Parker and Ted Schroeder probably will play all the matches, with Kramer and Parker in the singles and the Kramer-Schroeder duo in the doubles. The spares are expected to be Gardnar Mulloy and Bill Talbert.

Captain Walter Pate, who chose his players the past week and has been waiting for the USLTA to get around to announcing them, leaves for the coast within two weeks to gather his squad. The team will play in one Australian tournament before the challenge round . . . and then fly home with the cup.

Not because he's a bum steer ordinarily for the odds-makers, but for the third straight year Johnny Greco will follow the rodeo into the garden as prize fighting resumes. Moving in after the other cowboys moved out, Greco won over Bobby Ruffin in 1944 and over Tony Janiro in 1945. . . . His home to the range act this time will be against Tony Pellone. . . . Ho Ho, Silver!

Dai Reese and Charley Ward, two invading British golfers, still are praising the golf which Sam Snead showed when he won the British Open. Reese, who defeated Byron Nelson in the 1937 Ryder cup matches, will make the winter tour with Ward, both making their first start Nov. 5-7 in the North-South Open. After touring the United States they'll go to South Africa.

Illinois confidently expects its "Whiz Kids," Andy Phillip, Jack Smiley, Gene Vance and Ken Menke, to win the Big Nine basketball title a third time. They copped twice before leaving for two years and look sharp in practice sessions. Fred Green, 6 foot, 6 incher, and Bob Doster will split center duties with the fleet four.

Bierman Endorses Bowl Participation

DAYTON —(NS)— Coach Bernie Bierman of Minnesota endorsed a post-season bowl game between Western conference and Pacific Coast champions today but criticized the idea of waiting until New Year's day to play the contest.

Bierman, whose Gopher eleven stopped in Dayton while awaiting today's game with Ohio State at Columbus, said:

"I think the Rose Bowl is a fine game, and I quite see committees wanting to keep it a New Year's day attraction But for my own part I see no sense in waiting that long if the game is to have any championship pretensions."

Bierman explained that he believed the game should be played while the teams were in the same physical condition that they were when declared champions.

Timken Tussles Tygers To 6-6 Tie

LATE RALLY KEEPS BENGALS UNBEATEN

By FRED THARP, News-Journal Sports Editor.

CANTON—Mansfield Tygers took to the air lanes in the dying moments to salvage a 6 to 6 tie against a surprisingly tough band of Canton Timken Trojans before 2,000 rain-soaked fans here last night.

The bigger Bengals struck suddenly in the final three minutes on a Ralph Majors to Ollie Cline 25-yard pass to deadlock the contest and keep their 1946 record without a defeat blemish. Mansfield had won five straight before tying Massillon, 12-12, last week and Timken last night.

Coach Bud Jones' aggregation had been given little chance against the Tygers, but the combination of a muddy, sloppy gridiron and their best effort of the season enabled Timken to annex a moral victory. The Trojans had won three of their last four games and had a 3-3 mark for the campaign.

Last night was almost a duplication of the 1945 collision between the two pigskin machines. An underdog Timken team, then too, played over its head to throw a surprise party at Stadium field and take home a 13-7 victory.

Although Timken's ground attack ate up 160 yards, the Tyger line stiffened when the chips were down and it took a blocked punt which followed on the heels of a 15-yard penalty to give the Trojans their only score.

Timken never pushed beyond the mid-field stripe in the first half but an Ollie Cline punt skittered out of bounds on the Mansfield 42 early in the third quarter, giving Timken its first opportunity. Chuck Neago pounded to the 32 in two cracks at the line and the unnecessary roughness infraction moved the soggy leather to the 13

Neago completed a six-yard toss to Ernie Fuchs and Lou Williams was stopped at the line of scrimmage. Neago slashed to the four and Williams made it first and goal-to-go on the two. Neago fumbled and Mansfield recovered on the one.

Cline and Sophomore Harry Osbun alternated in carrying the leather to the six and Cline dropped back in the end zone to punt. John Constantino, star Trojan guard, broke through the Tyger line and blocked the boot with End John Watson recovering for the six-points. Watson's placekick was no good

The score apparently gave the embattled Trojans a new lease on life and they pieced together a 53-yard drive midway in the final stanza However, the Tyger line bucked up to hold for downs on the 11-yard line.

A Cline to Al Henke pass fell incomplete on the 28 and Bill McKee skidded to the 13. Cline dropped back and hit Majors on the Mansfield 10 with a sweet aerial. The Tyger half took wings and galloped to the Timken 25 before being pulled down.

Another Cline pass went for naught but the clever T formation ball-handler reversed the procedure on the following play. Majors went back into the passing slot and Cline got loose in the end zone to grab the ensuing aerial and tie the contest.

It was only the second time that Majors had thrown this season and the first time that Cline had been on the catching end. Majors' previous effort was a 80-yard TD toss to McKee in the Springfield massacre. Frisbee's extra-point try was slightly wide.

Net yards gained gave Timken a slight 176 to 170 edge and the Trojans bowled to 11 first downs to five for Mansfield. In rushing, the home club's 160 yards topped the Bengals' 87.

However, the Bengals completed five of nine aerials for 100 yards and the Timken tossers connected only twice in seven tries, for 22. Each team intercepted one pass.

Osbun, playing in place of Kenny Horvath, gained 25 yards in 11 trips, the same yardage picked up by McKee. Majors led the Mansfield ground-gainers with 29 yards in nine trips. McKee's 19-yard sprint in the third quarter was the longest single gain.

Horvath suffered a broken leg in practice last Monday and is out for the season. He was the Tygers leading scorer and ground-gainer.

Records of Pro Team on Block

NEW YORK — (AP) — Three teams, the Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins of the National Football league and the Cleveland Browns of the All-America conference, place their unbeaten records on the block tomorrow as the two professional loops approach the season's halfway mark.

The Browns, pacing the Western section of the newly organized circuit have racked up 180 points while yielding only 34 in winning seven straight. And in Cleveland tomorrow they meet the San Francisco Forty-Niners, the only club not yet on their victory string.

The Bears, with only a tie with the Los Angeles Rams to mar an otherwise spotless four-game record, invade the Polo Grounds for the first time in three years to play the New York Giants. The Giants are two-touchdown underdogs

The Redskins, also owning a record of three victories and a tie in four games will be host to the Philadelphia Eagles, who must win in order to remain in the running for the Eastern half title

Other games include the Rams and Cards in Chicago, the Packers and Detroit Lions in Green Bay and the Pittsburgh Steelers and Yanks in Boston

The Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost a coach yesterday when Dr Mal Stevens announced his resignation, went into their All-America conference game with the Miami Seahawks at Brooklyn last night under the direction of Assistant Coach Tom Scott and drubbed the Seahawks 30-7.

Besides the Cleveland-San Francisco contest, other Sunday conference games bring together the Chicago Rockets and the Bisons in Buffalo and the New York Yankees and the Dons in Los Angeles.

Wildcats Defeat Lakeside, 19-0

NEW LONDON — New London won its second 1946 grid contest last night as the Wildcats subdued Lakeside, 19 to 0.

Douglas Lash passed to Paul White for the first score after a 68 yard march. Johnny Lucal scored the second marker when he plunged through center from the five.

The final score came with Jim Randelman intercepting a Lakeside aerial and romping 65 yards. Lash converted.

Ohio High School Grid Teams Upset Predictions In Rain

By JOHN BARRINGTON, INS Sports Writer.

Perseverance had paid off today for Steubenville Wells' dogged football team.

The Stubbers, who didn't win a game in 1945, tackled one of the toughest schedules in state high school ranks this fall On successive week-ends, Steubenville played its local rival Central Catholic, East Liverpool, Weirton, W Va, Massillon, Campbell and Toledo Waite.

Of those six games, Steubenville won only two—from East Liverpool and Weirton.

Last night looked as if it would produce another setback for Wells, for Coach Howard Brinker's eleven was booked against powerful Canton McKinley.

So the Stubbers went out and battled McKinley to a scoreless tie on a slippery, rain-sodden gridiron.

That deadlock was more than a moral victory for Steubenville. It was a crushing blow to McKinley's hopes for state title consideration. The Bulldogs already had a loss to Cleveland Lincoln on their record.

Mansfield, too, ran afoul of a tie that threw its championship march into reverse. The Tygers, who deadlocked Massillon a week earlier, were held to a six-all draw by Canton Timken.

Timken had lost previously to Barberton, McKinley and Canton Lehman. It was Mansfield's first game since a broken leg cost them the services of Kenny Horvath, ace back, and presaged rough going for the Tygers the remainder of the season.

Other teams ranked among the state's top ten in the weekly International News Service poll all won their games.

Cleveland Cathedral Latin, bouncing back from its tie of a week ago, thoroughly whipped Benedictine before 17,800 fans, 10 to 0.

Emery Czisma did all Latin's scoring as the Lions piled up a rushing gain of 185 yards to a minus 20 for Benedictine. The game made 31 straight in which Latin has gone undefeated, although two ties have been recorded during that period.

Massillon downed Warren, 19-6 for its first victory over the Presidents since 1943. Last year's meeting produced one of five ties played by the Tigers in an unusual season. The Tigers got the jump in the opening minutes last night when Tackle Dave Dowd returned an intercepted pass for a touchdown.

Both Toledo Waite and Libbey were easy winners, and by identical scores, 32 to 0, over Central and Scott respectively.

Three undefeated Columbus elevens all kept their records unspotted. Linden McKinley rolled over North with surprising ease, 25 to 0; Grandview conquered Bexley, 21 to 6, and Upper Arlington blanked Central, 26-0.

Bowling Green handed Fremont Ross its first whipping in seven starts, 12 to 0. Troy kept up its fast pace as one of the surviving undefeated and untied schools with a 13-0 triumph over Dayton Fairmont.

Galion Vet Cubs Play Bulldogs

GALION — Galion Vet Cubs meet the strong Canton Bulldogs semi-pro football team Sunday afternoon on the Heise park gridiron at 2 o'clock.

The Bulldogs are the leading contenders for Ohio semi-pro honors and have many of the past high school and college star athletes. Galion tied the Chicago Brown Bombers, 7 to 7, at Columbus last Sunday.

The Cubs have three more home games on their schedule. Chardon's Merchants come to Galion, Nov. 3. Massillon Tigers play at Galion, Nov. 10, and on Nov. 17, the Cubs face St. Joseph's Athletic club from Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Vines Ties Trio For Golf Lead

RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—Bespectacled Ellsworth Vines, the lanky Californian who deserted big-time tennis to become a golf star, had his fingers crossed today as he teed off in the third round of the Richmond Open Golf tournament.

This is the first tourney on the professional circuit this year that Vines has gone out for the third 18-hole test with as much as a tie for the lead.

Vines started the trek over the 6,354-yard layout of the Hermitage Country club deadlocked for the first 36 holes with little Ben Hogan, the Hershey, Pa., sharpshooter; Australian Jim Ferrier, of Chicago, and Herman Keiser, of Akron, Ohio. All had scores of 141.

He said Keiser, who rose to fame as the victor in the Masters' classic at Augusta, Ga.; last spring, is the "best among the newcomers."

"You have to give it to Herman Keiser," Vines said. "He'll probably develop faster than any of the rest. Of course, he's an old campaigner, but he's just starting to win."

Vines shot a three-under-par 69 yesterday to equal the low card turned in by Keiser in Thursday's initial play. Keiser had a par 72 yesterday, Hogan toured the course in 70, and Ferrier carded a 71.

Trailing them by two strokes was Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, O., who leads the amateurs.

Other 36-hole scores included:

Jack Gray, Ashland, Ohio, 75-79—154. Andy Mocsary, Salem, Ohio, 77-78—155.

—By Thornton W. Burgess

THE RIVAL FISHERMEN

Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Jerry were too busy to talk. They had made that very plain to Peter Rabbit. They were making their house ready for winter, cutting rushes at the upper end of the Smiling Pool, swimming with them to their house in the water and adding them to the roof or taking them down under water. With their mouths full, they couldn't talk. When they went back for more they swam under water. It was very trying for Peter. You see he had some questions to ask them.

Curiosity can be patient at times. It can be very patient. So Peter continued to sit there by the Smiling Pool in hopeful waiting. By and by he heard a familiar sound. It was a rattle, a harsh rattle. The sound came from the direction of the Big River. Peter sat up his full height to look in that direction. Coming toward him was a big bird, a bird with great broad wings that seemed to move slowly and heavily in measured beats. Yet though those even beats of the great wings seemed slow they were bringing their owner toward Peter surprisingly fast.

"Here comes Longlegs. Perhaps he'll tell me what I want to know," thought Peter.

Again he heard that harsh rattle. It was louder now, which meant that it was nearer. It came from the direction of Longlegs but it wasn't Longlegs who was rattling. The Great Blue Heron honks and squawks and croaks, but he doesn't rattle.

"It is Rattles the Kingfisher and he is coming over here, too," thought Peter. Presently he made out a speck on the sky. It grew larger as the rattle grew louder. Just as the big Heron dropped his long legs to alight at the edge of the water Rattles the Kingfisher reached the big tree that grew on one bank of the Smiling Pool and peached on a dead branch that stretched out above the water.

Longlegs glared up at Rattles. "Go back to the Big River. I'm fishing here," he croaked.

"So am I," rattled his rival. "If you don't like it go away yourself. I've come over here to fish and I am going to stay until I catch what I want. The fishing is free. The fish don't belong to anyone until caught. Then they belong to the one who catches them."

Longlegs waded out up to his knees and stood still, his long neck drawn back and his head drawn in. His keen eyes could see down in the water to the bottom. No fish could come within his reach without being seen. Then, like a spring released, his long neck would straighten, shooting his head with its long spear-like bill forward and down. Lucky, indeed, would be the fish quick enough to escape.

Looking down from his perch, Rattles the Kingfisher could also see to the bottom. Because he was higher he could see for a greater distance around than could Longlegs. The big Heron must wait for a fish to come within reach. A fish out of reach was safe. It was not so with Rattles. If he saw a fish some distance away he could and would go after it if it were not too deep or too big. Longlegs must depend almost wholly on patience. Rattles, being a go-getter, didn't have to be as patient.

Several small fish began playing about near Longlegs. You might have thought they were teasing him.

Rattles, from his higher perch, could see down in the water almost across to where Longlegs was standing. He knew by the way in which Longlegs watched that there were fish over there. Presently he saw one a little farther out than the others. He flew low, hovered an instant above that unsuspecting little fish, then shot down headfirst splash into the water. Up he came with the fish in his big bill and flew with it back to his perch. Of course he had frightened all the other fish. Longlegs gave up in disgust and flew away.

There are 110,500 miles of trolley coach, street car and bus routes in the United States, an increase of two percent over 1944.

COUNTY DIGS BUMPER CROP OF POTATOES

Farmers Use Modern Methods to Get Spuds In Before Winter.

an acre this season, said H. E. Rupp, of the Gorman-Rupp company, co-operator of the potato project.

Rupp explained that part of his crop was washed out in storms last summer.

Remember those hard rains last June when basements were flooded. North Diamond street was washed out and a large truck was caught in the subway as it filled with water?

The same rains cost Pinehurst farm 10 acres of potatoes—drowned out.

But neither Rupp nor Mrs. Ruth Oglesbee, who owns the farm, are complaining about that. They are thankful that the loss wasn't greater and that this fall's harvest is going along so well.

Prisoners Helped.

"Last year we weren't able to use the harvester much, because of wet weather, so we had to rely on prisoners of war to pick up the potatoes," Mrs Oglesbee said.

"This year I don't know how we could have got the crop in without the harvester," she said.

That harvester is part of what we meant by a potato production line.

Its a huge machine which when pulled by a tractor digs two rows of potatoes at a time and elevates them into a trailer being towed behind.

Ten or 11 workers ride on the sides of the machine to separate the vines, potatoes and soil and to place the spuds on the conveyor leading to the trailer.

1,500 Bushels a Day.

The workers may dig 1,500 bushels of potatoes in a nine-hour day, depending on digging conditions and the yield.

For this they are paid at hourly rates comparable to work in an industrial plant.

All potatoes are being stored now, so when a trailer is filled, a tractor, bringing an empty to the field, hooks onto the filled one and pulls it to the barn.

Here it is dumped over a conveyor which grades the potatoes. They are in the storage room a few minutes after being dug.

Both the trailers and the conveyor system were built at the Gorman-Rupp plant, Rupp said.

Thirty-five acres of Irish Cobblers were all dug, graded and taken to market directly from the field earlier this season, he said.

Going into storage now are Sebagos and Katadins And in case you are still hungry for potatoes Mrs. Oglesbee says that the Katadins are the better of the two for frying, but if it's mashed or baked you like, then you had better have some Sebagos.

TAFT, BARKLEY CLAIM VICTORY

Both Say Their Parties Will Win In November.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(AP)—Two of the nation's top political figures—one a Democrat and the other a Republican—addressed political rallies here last night, each predicting that his party would win the November elections.

The two were Sens. Robert A. Taft, R., O., and Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., majority leader of the senate.

Barkley arrived here first—his plane was only 20 minutes late.

"The Democrats will retain a firm, workable majority in both houses of congress," he said.

Twenty minutes later Taft landed at the airport, his plane being two hours late. He asserted:

"The Republicans will pick up enough seats in both the house and senate to have a wide majority in the house and probably a majority in the senate."

There are but few who know what Fate will bring,
But long ago I knew the die was cast . . .
That I had only slender songs to sing
And that my future always was the past,
There was a glimpse of peace along the way,
A word of faith . . . a mouth against my own,
But these are tokens of a vanished day
And night is here and I am all alone;

Thus fare the lads who wander in the dark
And filch their dreams at some forgotten inn,
The lads who think a shadow is a spark,
That constancy can be the only sin;

There are but few who ever know their fate
And I am one—and now it is too late! —Don Wahn

When Carleton Young was in "Badlands of Dakota" Lon Chaney, jr., was supposed to scare a pair of old-time jugglers. The scene was a cowboy saloon (in which the jugglers did their turn) and Chaney took pot-shots (with his gat) at their Indian clubs—as they juggled them to and fro.

The jugglers had never appeared in a movie, and director Al Green took pains to tell them how to react, etc. But the "takes" were numerous because one of the jugglers continued to look more amused than frightened.

Finally, in exasperation, director Green said to him: "Look here, my little man. Can't you look scared? Didn't you ever play Poli's New Haven?"

A New York gazette (with a. t. n. that's fit t. p.) had this dilly of a biog on the late Von Ribbentrop. It ran Oct. 16th:

"He had friends 'even among the British Tories'."

Whaddayah mean "even"? The word is "especially."

At the Copa, the champ of cafe comedians (Joe E. Lewis) said to heavyweight champ Louis:

"Joe, you know you're not getting any younger. Suppose some young upstart comes along and knocks you out. What'll you do?"

Poker-faced Joe reflected a moment and said: "I'll sign him up."

In Reuben's yesterdawn they told of the German "ach-ro-baht" who returned to Broadway recently from Germany and lost no time visiting his old agent.

"I hef," he said excitedly, "a brand new acht. Zennzay-shoonill! I shtand high on a zixty-foot laddirr—vit mine hends tied opp tight and den I chump down on da staitch—undt I land near da foodlights—on mine head! Obzolootly!"

"That's fine," said his agent, "I'll book you to open at Loew's State Thursday."

The day before the premiere, however, the acrobat phoned. "I'm zo zorree," he said, "bud I kennot open tomorroh. I tried oudt my new trick yesterday. Undt now my head hurts a liddle."

That recalls the oldie about the adagio act. The male member (long on muscles but short on brains) was bragging before their audition. "It's a sock sensation," he panted. "You never saw anything like it. At the finish I take my partner by the hand and whirl her around 20 times. After that I wind up by heaving her through an open window."

The producer paled. "Heave her through an open window?" he repeated in amazement. "You don't mean to tell me you do that every performance?"

"Hell, nobody's perfect," the dancer shrugged, "sometimes I miss!"

Lippmann Today and Tomorrow

MR. BEVIN'S speech is a striking example of how the British, without military or economic predominance, are able to remain a leading power in the world. By long tradition which is now instinctive, and also, more than most British statesmen would willingly admit, by conscious design, they are masters of the art of using the balance of power.

Britain has now reached that middle position in Mr. Bevin's statement that the British policy in Germany is s o c i a l i s t. As against the Communists they will stand for free institutions and political democracy, but they will stand also for public ownership of the basic industries rather than for the restoration of free capitalism.

This is a line of policy which corresponds more accurately than does that of Moscow or our own to the sentiments of Europe and to the practical conditions of the continent, and it will undoubtedly enhance enormously the influence of Britain in the reconstruction of Europe.

* * *

THE DECISION to promote Socialism in Germany was, of course, in the making before the recent German elections in Berlin. But the results of those elections show that the British have placed their bets on the right horse. The Communists were decisively beaten. But they were beaten by the Socialists.

That election was almost certainly typical of postwar Europe as a whole. The struggle for Europe is not b e t w e e n, say, Churchill and Stalin. It is between the Socialists—the non-Communist and anti-totalitarian left—and the Communists.

The foreign policy of the Labor party, which is only now beginning to emerge, is adjusted to that fact. It suits the Labor party, which is itself a Socialist party. But it suits also the permanent underlying British interest in that it enables Britain once again to occupy a middle position in the world, and to exert an important, perhaps a decisive, influence upon the balance of power.

* * *

ONE OF THE compelling reasons why Britain will take the Socialist line in Germany is that Britain is unable, as it did after the first world war, to finance German reconstruction through the London banking houses.

They own a very considerable bad German debt, perhaps as much as $120,000,000, left over from before the war, which would have to be dealt with before private financing could begin.

The United States, on the other hand, owns very little German debt, and can be a strong creditor. The British as such, and the British under a Socialist government still less, will not wish to see the United States acquire a serious control over the basic industries of Germany. The Socialization of those industries suits them, therefore, not only ideologically, not only diplomatically, but financially and economically as well.

BOARD OBJECTS TO STIFF TERMS FOR 3 YOUTHS

Ashland Church Group Asks Suspension of Sentences In Arson Case.

ASHLAND — A protest against the sentencing of three boys at the Ashland county children's home to-terms in the Boys' Industrial school for starting the $15,000 fire at the home last Monday was issued yesterday by the First Methodist church board of education.

Copies of the protest were filed with the probate court, prosecuting attorney, Ashland county child welfare board, Ashland county commissioners and Ashland Times-Gazette.

Previously, a group of Ashland citizens had protested vigorously against the commitments of the trio, aged 11, 13 and 14.

The church board, headed by Sidney R. Boyd, asked that the sentences be suspended until a further hearing is held. It also suggested that the local court seek the services of the state bureau of juvenile research, and that Ashland county authorities provide more adequate welfare program for wards of the county.

Meanwhile, the oldest boy of the trio, now being held in the Ashland county jail, received five birthday cakes from sympathizers on his 15th birthday yesterday.

TEACHERS SEEK $2,000 MINIMUM

Ohio Association Adopts Salary Increase Resolution.

As Mansfield prepares to vote Nov. 5 on a proposed three-mill levy to provide salary increases for school teachers here, the Northeastern Ohio Teachers association today was on record as recommending a $2,000 minimum annual salary for qualified Ohio teachers.

A resolution adopted by the group at its closing session yesterday took notice of "closed classrooms, inadequately trained teachers and an increased birth rate" and called for salary increases to alleviate teacher shortages resulting from low pay in the profession.

The association, which met in Cleveland, also urged a permanent and substantial increase in state funds to public schools, and that parents work for legislation to make the teaching profession more attractive.

Named president of NEOTA for 1947 was C. J. W. Luttrell, superintendent of schools at Lorain. C. C. Tuck, principal of Cleveland's West Technical high school, was elected vice president; Miss Ruth Skeeles, Canton, member of the executive committee, and Miss Florence Carey, Ashtabula, recording secretary.

The Mansfield tax levy, proposed for a five-year period, would affect 321 teachers, permanent substitute teachers, office help and other employes of the school board.

In some instances starting or top salaries of teachers here would be boosted $500 annually, Dr. Edwin A. Fensch, director of research in city schools, reported.

HURT IN CRASH

Mansfielder Suffers Head Injury As Cars Collide.

A Mansfielder received minor injuries yesterday in a two-car collision at East First and South Diamond streets, police reported.

Walter G. Reed, 40, of 325 West Third street, suffered a cut on the scalp when the automobile in which he was a passenger was in collision with a car driven by W. H. G. Kegg, 677 Maple street. William C. Laser, 172½ Wolfe avenue, was the driver of the other car.

Both drivers told police that the traffic light was green when they crossed the intersection.

Surplus Sales Reduced by Half

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Sales of government war surplus have dropped by one-half in the past three months, it was learned today.

Worried war assets administration officials are sharply revising sales plans as a result. They predict a rapid recovery.

Records in the agency's new "control room" show the disposals in June hit a peak of $841,000,000, figured in terms of original cost. July sales fell to $469,000,000. August was up to $595,000,000. September dropped to $430,000,000.

KEYS STOLEN

A key ring holding keys to the Blue Goose tavern, Park avenue east road, was stolen from the establishment about 1:45 a. m. today, police reported. Phil Hergatt, owner of the tavern, said the keys were stolen after the front door had been locked from the inside at closing time this morning.

Fire Threatens 40,000 Gallons Of Oil at Empire Steel Plant

An oil line fire which for a time threatened four 10,000-gallon storage tanks at the Empire Steel corporation was extinguished with only minor damage at 8 a. m, today.

Fire Chief L. J. Steele said the fire started in a ditch in which an eight-inch line and several smaller pipes were laid.

Company officials said the fire might have been caused by spontaneous combustion. A small quantity of oil burned, and a section of pipe was damaged by the fire.

For the third successive night, a false alarm was turned in from a box at First street and Sturges avenue last night, Chief Steele said today.

The alarm was rung at 5:45 p. m. On the two previous nights, the alarms were turned in at 6:30 and 7:30 p. m., respectively.

"Such so-called 'pranks' are a very serious matter," he said. "If we catch anyone turning in false alarms, we'll prosecute them to the fullest extent of the law."

REPORTS BOOST IN STATE AID

Davis Tells Pensioners of Increase Due Nov. 1.

More than 25,000 persons in Ohio received $10 a month increases in old age pensions this month as a result of recent social legislation, John H. Davis, administrative assistant, Division of Aid for the Aged, told members of the Richland County Society of Old Age Pensioners last night.

In addition, he told the group, the division has increased the food and clothing allotments as a result of a recent price survey. This increase will total approximately 20 per cent, he said, and will in effect increase the pensions of all recipients receiving less than $50 a month. The increase is effective Nov. 1.

Davis said the increase in the maximum awards from $40 to $50 a month was made within 30 days after the authorization law was passed.

Aid for aged awards have increased from $29.45 in January, 1945, to approximately $38 in October, 1946, he said.

Youth, 14, Ordered to Repay $150 Stolen At Home.

A 14-year-old Mansfield boy yesterday received a one-year suspended sentence in the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster after he was convicted in juvenile court of stealing $150 in cash from a Sycamore street home on Oct. 8.

Police obtained a confession from the boy yesterday. They said he admitted entering the home through a coal chute window, taking the money from a wallet, box, and dime bank in the residence.

Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer ordered the youth to report to the court each Saturday for one year, be in his home by 8:30 p. m. in winter and 9 p. m. in summer, and not to be on the streets at night unless accompanied by his parents or other responsible adults.

The boy used the money to purchase a motor bicycle, police said. The court ordered his father to sell the bicycle, and to repay the stolen money to its owner, Mrs. Gertrude Touby, 252 Sycamore street.

An army promotion warrant dated 1862 and found recently along the Pennsylvania railroad near the city was claimed today by Addison Kagey, 338 Glessner avenue, nephew of Daniel Kagey, to whom the warrant was issued. The nephew, who is 78, said he had never seen the warrant and couldn't explain how it could have been lost along the railroad. Kagey said, however, he knew his uncle was promoted to first sergeant of Co. K, 102nd Ohio Volunteer Infantry regiment, at Camp Mansfield, Aug. 20, 1862, and later was promoted to captain, the rank he held when he died of smallpox at Knoxville, Tenn., shortly before the Civil war ended.

DEMS FLAYED BY M'GREGOR

'Communism' Charged In Speech At Shiloh School.

Some 300 residents of Shiloh and vicinity heard Congressman J. Harry McGregor, Republican candidate for reelection, repeat his charge that the present Democratic administration is Communistic, at a GOP rally in the Shiloh high school last night.

McGregor also claimed that he discovered in a recent tour of Latin American countries that the people of those nations "consider us suckers for tolerating New Deal policies."

"This election is a fight between Jeffersonian Democrats and Republicans on one side and the New Deal and Communists on the other," McGregor declared.

The Shiloh rally was the third of the campaign for Republicans in Richland county. Another will be held at Shiloh high school Monday at 8 p. m.

Appearing briefly at Shiloh for brief talks were Atty. John L. Catlett, candidate for county representative to the state legislature, and C. I. Shoup, candidate for county commissioner.

Shiloh Mayor Glenn Swanger presided and introduced the candidates. Music was provided by eight members of the Shiloh Mother Singers.

MAKES PLEA TO ELIMINATE AREA'S EVILS

Bricker and Herbert Speak At Cleveland Rally As Voting Nears.

(By Associated Press)

Gov. Frank J. Lausche carried his campaign for re-election into the strip-mining areas of southeastern Ohio Friday night while his opponent Thomas J. Herbert and John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, addressed a Cleveland rally.

With the election only 10 days off, Lausche made stops at Cambridge, St. Clairsville, Bridgeport, Steubenville and East Liverpool, swinging through the heart of Ohio's strip-mining country.

At Bridgeport, he said that what he saw led him to fear that "unless the evils of strip mining are eliminated by corrective treatment, a huge area of Ohio will be unable to produce agriculturally for years to come."

Strip mine coal companies, Lausche said, have opposed his re-election and have balked his efforts of "the last two years to awaken the people of the state to the unnecessary waste of precious resources."

Herbert Speaks of Schools.

In Cleveland Herbert's speech was a renewal of his contention that Ohio schools would benefit from a Republican administration.

He repeated his assertion Governor Lausche promised increased appropriations for schools, then vetoed them when he became governor.

"The Republican candidates for state office this year include the men who rescued the schools from the sad financial plight for which a previous Democratic administration is responsible," Herbert said.

Bricker said "only in the face of the coming election" has the New Deal "relaxed from under public pressure" its "complete control over labor and industry."

Hits Controls.

Although the war has been over nearly a year and a half and 10 million soldiers have returned to peacetime pursuits, Bricker said, the Truman administration has "kept the nation in a state of emergency" when controls "should have been gradually eliminated so that by now our country would have been on a normal peacetime economic basis."

Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, in a radio broadcast in Washington, and Sen. Robert A. Taft in a campaign speech at Salt Lake City lambasted the New Deal Friday night.

Brown said the threat of another coal strike was just another example of "New Deal chickens coming home to roost" and predicted that in January Republicans would try to make collective bargaining work and reduce government's power over labor.

Taft identified the "one great issue today between the Republicans and the Democratic administration" as:

"Shall progress in this country be based, hereafter as in the past, on maintaining freedom and equal justice, or a constant increase in the unrestricted power and unrestrained spending of a Washington bureaucracy?"
